

A vibrant, cartoon-style illustration of a magical forest. The scene is dominated by several tree houses with tall, conical purple roofs and white, rounded bodies. One large tree house on the left is built into a massive tree trunk, with a small figure climbing its side. A yellow stone path winds through the forest, leading towards the tree houses. In the foreground, there are several red mushrooms with white spots growing on a tree stump. The background is filled with lush green foliage and more tree houses, creating a sense of a hidden, enchanted world.
